

Harmeny Here4U

Here4U is the new transitions and keeping in touch project for former pupils of Harmeny School, Edinburgh.

The project will expand Harmeny's support for young people during and after their transition from Harmeny, up to the age of 25.

If you are a former Harmeny pupil, we would love to hear from you!

The project aims to offer help to keep in touch with Harmeny, as well as offering support, guidance and signposting to services that can help you.

The project will also listen to you to find out how your time at Harmeny has had an impact on your life. This will help us to learn from the experiences of former pupils.

How Here4U can help you

Providing the means to keep in touch with Harmeny, and important people from your time at the school

Having conversations about your time at Harmeny, allowing us to evaluate and learn from your experiences

Offering you support when needed, and signposting you to services that can best meet your needs

Establishing a network of former pupils, including social networks and in-person events

Here4U is closely aligned to The Promise, and will help Harmeny to fulfil the commitments of The Promise and other continuing care legislation.
